

Happy Chinese New Year and Valentine's Day!

I'm a little late with my 2010 New Year's newsletter, but I am reminded of the saying, "A little late... but worth the wait". Let me entice you as to why it's may be worth the wait.

How many of you are holding up to your New Year resolutions? If your struggling to keep them or they have already fallen by the wayside, maybe what we need to go a little deeper to uncover why on a subconscious level you are unable to keep them.

To assist you in keeping your resolutions with grace and ease, I am offering a remarkable Valentine's/Chinese New Year's Special, good thru 2/28.

How about a 45 minute session for only $35 (regularly $83~). no limit on many you can purchase. Purchase as many as you wish for yourself. They can be used anytime during 2010.

*To purchase your session(s) at this incredible price, click the button below and use coupon code: 2010WINNER

Offer expires on 2/28/10 and is non-transferable, so you have to purchase them for yourself

*"Tele-Class Tuesdays" will resume in March.
Stay tuned for an exciting new listing of tele-classes.*

The FREE Contest is back!

Win a 3 Day Theta Healing Workshop

Don't miss this opportunity to WIN!

Enter to win Basics of Theta Healing 3 Day Workshop (value $500) to be held on the weekend of April 16-18, 2010 in Palm Springs, CA. No purchase necessary. Deadline to enter is 3/15/10. Read complete rules at website.

[\[click here to enter\]](#)

Upcoming Events!

Desert Wellness Expo

For those of you local, mark your calendar. I will be teaching an FREE Intro to Theta Healing class at the Desert Wellness Expo in Rancho Mirage, March 28th from 3-4pm. It's an all day expo showcasing wellness tips and techniques. Click link below for details.
[\[click here to enter\]](#)

See the Possibilities

Look and listen, feel and know. What you sincerely seek will come within your reach, if you simply allow it and see it.

Opportunity rarely looks the way you thought it would. Open your heart and open your mind to recognize it.

Each day, coming your way, is a fast-flowing stream of seemingly random events. Somewhere within them are the ones you asked for.

For each dream you have, life gives you the possibilities for achieving that dream. Your job is to see those possibilities and to act on them.

When you wish to go new places, you must accept that the road will be unfamiliar. Go with what feels right, even though it feels a little uncomfortable.

What you seek is coming to you. See it and have the faith to fully live it.

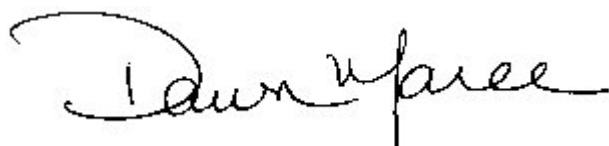

Source: Ralph Marston

I wanted to thank each of you for your support. I appreciate you being a part of my life. In the past few months, I have taken a bit of a hiatus and needed some time to go within and re-group. My practice grew quickly and I didn't know how to handle all the growing pains, as well as keep up the energy. In addition, there were many things and changes going on in my personal life which needed me to address and, quite frankly, I needed to work on myself. It was a time of spiritual growth and re-evaluation. During this time, I became quiet to everyone and I just wanted to say that, my distance was only for things I needed to do and if I was not in contact, and not intended to push anyone away or hurt feelings. Please know I appreciate you and it was a growing process I was going through and now that I am emerging, I feel rejuvenated. I am thankful for each client, friend, family member, business associate and acquaintance in my life and honor you all.

Thank you for your interest in Desert Theta Healing. Would love to hear from you soon.

Happy Valentine's Day!

Sending love & light,

Dawn Maree
Desert Theta Healing (aka TryTheta.com)

P.S. Follow me on the following social networking sites:

